Independent Auditor's Report

To the Board of Directors of Riverside Park Conservancy, Inc. and Affiliate

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of Riverside Park Conservancy, Inc. and Affiliate which comprise the consolidated statement of financial position as of December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014 and the related consolidated statements of activities, functional expenses and cash flows for the years then ended and the related notes to the consolidated financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement. An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the statement of financial position of Riverside Park Conservancy, Inc. and Affiliate as of December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014 and the results of their activities and their cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

RIVERSIDE PARK CONSERVANCY, INC. AND AFFILIATENotes to Consolidated Financial Statements
December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014*Note 1 – Nature of organizations*Riverside Park Conservancy, Inc.

Riverside Park Conservancy, Inc. (the “Conservancy”) is a private, not-for-profit corporation established in 1986. The Conservancy was organized to help restore, maintain and improve Riverside Park (the “Park”). Stretching four miles along the Hudson River from 72nd Street to 153rd Street on Manhattan’s Upper West Side, Riverside Park’s over 330 acres provide recreation and relaxation for a very diverse population. More recently, the Conservancy has helped care for New York City parks adjacent to the Park, specifically Riverside Park South, Sakura Park, West Harlem Piers Park, and a portion of Fort Washington Park, in total an area spanning six miles from 59th Street to 181st Street.

The Conservancy’s goals are to raise private funds for the Park, serve as its advocate, and educate the public about the park, strengthening the constituency for its long-term preservation. The Conservancy manages park projects such as restoring pathways and facilities, resurfacing playing fields and dog runs, and rehabilitating large horticulture areas. It also supports park users at playgrounds, tennis courts and community gardens and sponsors free programming and events.

The Conservancy directly supports the ongoing care of the Park by directing an extensive corps of volunteers, one of the largest in the City of New York, and with a staff of full time, year round gardeners and field technicians who provide specialized care to sustain the Park’s continuing restoration.

The Conservancy works in partnership with the New York City Department of Parks and Recreation and uses the grounds and facilities of Riverside Park to further its exempt purpose. The Park is owned by the City of New York. All improvements made by the Conservancy to the Park inure to the benefit of New York City.

Riverside Tennis Association, LLC

The Riverside Tennis Association, LLC (the “RTA”) was founded in the early 1980’s in order to protect the 10 public clay tennis courts in Riverside Park at 97th Street along the Hudson River. During the 2007 fiscal year, the Conservancy entered into an agreement whereby it became the sole member of the RTA.

Note 2 – Summary of significant accounting policiesPrinciples of consolidation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements include the activity of both entities. All material intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation.

December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014*Note 2 – Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)Net assets

The Conservancy reports information regarding its consolidated financial position and consolidated activities into three classes of net assets: unrestricted, temporarily restricted, and permanently restricted.

- Unrestricted net assets consist of all activity without donor imposed restrictions.
- Temporarily restricted net assets consist of activity based on specific donor restrictions that are expected to be satisfied by passage of time or performance of activities.
- Permanently restricted net assets consist of activity restricted by donors that must remain intact in perpetuity.

Cash and cash equivalents

The Conservancy considers highly liquid assets with original maturities of 90 days or less to be cash equivalents, unless such assets are held as part of its investment strategy in which case these assets are included in investments.

Investments

The fair value of the investments is based on publicly quoted prices. The cost of investments sold is determined on an average cost basis. Investment return is allocated between unrestricted and temporarily restricted net assets.

Fair value measurements

For assets measured at fair value on a recurring basis as of December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014, accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require quantitative disclosures about the fair value measurements separately for each major class of assets. The Conservancy's investments have all been classified in the highest level of hierarchy (Level 1). Its quoted prices are in active markets for identical assets.

Allowance for doubtful accounts

As of December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014, the Conservancy has determined that its accounts and contribution receivable are all collectible and an allowance for any possible uncollectible receivables is not necessary. Such estimate is based on management's experience, the aging of the receivables, subsequent receipts and current economic conditions.

RIVERSIDE PARK CONSERVANCY, INC. AND AFFILIATENotes to Consolidated Financial Statements (continued)*December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014*Note 2 – Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)Contributions receivable

Contributions including unconditional promises to give (“pledges”) are recognized as revenue in the period received and when the conditions on which they depend have been substantially met. Conditional promises to give are recognized when the conditions on which they depend are substantially met.

Property and equipment

Expenditures of property and equipment, that the Conservancy retains title to and leasehold improvements which benefit future periods, above a nominal amount and with a useful life greater than one year, are capitalized at cost, or if donated, at the estimated fair value at the time of donation. The Conservancy’s property and equipment are fully depreciated and amortized.

Contributions

Contributions received including unconditional promises to give, are recorded as unrestricted, temporarily restricted, or permanently restricted support, depending on the existence or absence of donor restrictions, at the time of receipt or promise. Donor-restricted contributions that have their restriction met within the fiscal year are reported as unrestricted revenue. Restrictions that are not met are reported as an increase in temporarily or permanently restricted net assets, depending on the nature of the restriction. When a restriction expires (that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends or purpose restriction is accomplished), temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statement of activities as net assets released from restrictions.

Bequests are recorded as revenue when a legally binding obligation is received and when a fair value can be reasonably determined.

In-kind services

Organizations are required to recognize contributions of services if they create or enhance non-financial assets, or require specialized skills, are provided by individuals possessing those skills and typically would have been purchased if not provided in-kind. Board members and other individuals volunteer their time and perform a variety of tasks that assist the Conservancy. These services do not meet the criteria to be recorded and have not been included in the consolidated financial statements.

Functional expenses

The cost of providing the various programs and other activities has been summarized on a functional basis. Accordingly, certain costs have been allocated among the programs and supporting services benefited.

Use of estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the consolidated financial statements. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Concentrations of credit risk

The Conservancy's financial instruments that are potentially exposed to concentrations of credit risk consist of cash, cash equivalents and investments. The Conservancy places its cash and cash equivalents with what it believes to be quality financial institutions and invests in mutual funds. At times, cash balances were in excess of the FDIC insurance limit. However, the Conservancy has not experienced any losses in these accounts to date. The Conservancy's investments are subject to various risks such as interest rate, market volatility, liquidity and credit. Due to the level of uncertainty related to the foregoing risks, it is reasonably possible that changes in these risks could materially affect the fair value of the investments reported in the consolidated statement of financial position at December 31, 2015. The Conservancy routinely assesses the financial strength of its cash, cash equivalents and investment portfolio. As a consequence, management believes concentrations of credit risk are limited.

Subsequent events

The Conservancy has evaluated events and transactions for potential recognition or disclosure through October 31, 2016, which is the date the consolidated financial statements were available to be issued.

Note 3 – Investments

The following is a summary of the investments at fair value held by the Conservancy as of December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014:

Note 5 – Endowment funds

The Conservancy acts prudently when making decisions to spend or accumulate donor restricted endowment assets and in doing so, considers a number of factors including the duration and preservation of its donor restricted endowment funds. The Conservancy classifies as permanently restricted net assets the original value of gifts donated to the permanent endowment.

The Conservancy's long-term assets are invested in accordance with sound investment practices that emphasize long-term investment fundamentals. In establishing the investment objectives of the Conservancy, the Board of Directors takes into account a number of factors including the financial needs and circumstances of the Conservancy, the time horizon available for investment, the nature of the Conservancy's cash flows and liabilities, and other factors that affect their risk tolerance.

The investment return generated from its permanently restricted funds is recorded as temporarily restricted until such time as appropriated by the Board of Directors or until it is spent in accordance with the donor's terms.

From time to time the fair value of assets associated with individual donor-restricted endowment funds may fall below the level that the donor or NYPMIFA requires. There were no such deficiencies as of December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014.

Permanently restricted net assets consist of the following as of December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014:

	2015	2014
103 rd and 107 th Street Ballfields Endowment	$ 200,000	$ 200,000

Note 6 – Commitments

Office and storage space

The Conservancy leases office and storage space under a non-cancelable operating lease expiring on September 30, 2017. The Conservancy's annual rent is equal to the Conservancy's proportionate share of the landlord's carrying, maintenance, operating and depreciation charges, along with the scheduled contributions to the landlord's capital improvement funds. The Conservancy's proportionate share of its expenses is based on its proportionate share of its square footage in the building, as defined in the agreement. The annual rent is also subject to an annual increase based on the increase in the landlord's expenses. Rent expense for the years ended December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014 is $45,273 and $44,165, respectively.

License agreement

The Conservancy and the New York City Department of Parks and Recreation ("Parks") entered into a licensing agreement on March 31, 2006 which granted the Conservancy a license to maintain, operate, improve and provide programming in Riverside Park. The agreement is subject to certain terms and conditions and further subject to renewal at the discretion of Parks and upon request by the Conservancy. In May 2011, this license agreement was renewed and the term of the agreement was up for renewal March 30, 2016. In March 2016, the agreement was extended and is up for renewal March 30, 2017.

December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014*Note 6 – Commitments (continued)*Park maintenance funding agreement

In May 2015, the Conservancy entered into an agreement with Riverside South Property Owners Association, Inc., a New York State not-for-profit corporation, (“RSPOA”) for the maintenance, operations and programming of Riverside Park South. The agreement was scheduled to expire December 31, 2015 and was automatically renewed on January 1, 2016 for successive sixty-month periods. RSPOA shall remit payments to the Conservancy on a quarterly basis as outlined in the agreement. Each quarterly payment shall equal one quarter of the operating costs set forth in the budget plan for such year (the “Annual Maintenance Contribution”). In addition, the Conservancy’s annual compensation for the services provided shall be an amount equal to 4.25% of the Annual Maintenance Contribution for the applicable year.

Note 7 – Retirement plan

The Conservancy maintains a 401(k) plan for all eligible employees. Employees may make contributions to the plan in accordance with limits established by the Internal Revenue Service. The Conservancy does not make any matching contributions to the plan.

Note 8 – Litigation

The Conservancy is currently involved in legal proceedings arising in the ordinary course of business. The Conservancy believes it has defenses for these proceedings and is vigorously defending the actions. In the opinion of management, after consultation with outside legal counsel, the final disposition of these matters will not have a material effect on the Conservancy’s financial statements. In the above proceedings, the Conservancy has been notified by the City of New York Legal Department that it will defend the Conservancy and pay on its behalf any judgment arising out of the proceedings.

Note 9 – Tax status

The Conservancy is exempt from federal income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code (the “Code”). In addition, the Conservancy has been determined by the Internal Revenue Service to be a publicly supported organization, and not a private foundation, within the meaning of Section 509(a)(1) of the Code. The RTA is a limited liability corporation. Since the Conservancy is the sole member of the RTA, it is considered a disregarded entity for tax purposes.
